Sexual Harassment is an important and sometimes uncomfortable topic for teachers and administrators. This program helps students in grades 6-12 to recognize and respond to sexual harassment. It also gives administrators and teachers tools to help students create a safer environment. The video contains three modules: two of them target students and one targets teachers. Throughout the student modules, the host, an older sister character, provides definitions, explanations and insights based on her own experiences.

101: What is Sexual Harassment: Demonstrations and dramatizations are followed by on screen questions and discussion topics.

102: Stopping Sexual Harassment: Through the examples given in the previous program segment, students are shown effective techniques for stopping and reporting sexual harassment.

103: Teacher Guide: Faculty responsibility and options for recognizing, confronting and resolving incidents of sexual harassment.
